Billers Today Proclaim the Glad News With Posters of Color and Marvelous

There are 69 Who Walk Upon Feet in ner to Scare Every Small Boy and Matron With Money to Spare to Reach the Big Tent and the Elephants There

Save your pennies Willie Smallboy, a circus is coming. Not one of those dyspeptic affairs, but a six-fold aggregation that requires 85 doublelength railroad cars to transport.

And there will be 40 big, good natured elephants, a family of giraffes that are tall enough to gaze in the second story window, a chimpanzee that smokes a pipe and shaves in front of a mirror, and goodness knows what

"World's Greatest Shows" Friday. June 25.

This season the quintet of brothers have the largest circus in the world. They employ 1,280 men, women and children; carry 650 horses, 108 cages of rare wild animals and exhibit in the largest tents ever constructed. The programme is one of originality, novelty and artistic completeness. All of the 375 performers were picked from the foremost talent of the old world. The sixty riders are headed by the McCree-Davenport troupe and Daisy Hodgini; the sixty aerialists have as their feature the ten Jordens, whose act fairly fills the arena with flying forms; chief among the trained animal acts is that of the Schumann horses, six of which drink from large glasses, smoke pipes and roll each other about in huge beer casks; Kealey's elephants, that telephone, talking with one ahother from the front to the rear end of the big fent.

And, above all, for the limit of daring, is the double somersaulting autombolle. This act consists of a meteor-like descent of a ponderous machine in which Mile. La Belle Roche is carried into space, where her charger turns two complete revolutions before crashing upon the hippodrome track and spending its mad race.

The parade, too, is made up of features novel to circus pageantry. There are over three miles of it, and the investment represented by the costly dress and trappings would buy the entire outfit of any other show.

Cloudy and rainy weather to-night and Saturday.

The disturbance that was central in the lower Mississippi valley yesterday morning has moved northward and is now central in the Ohio valley. It has produced cloudy and rainy weather east of the Mississippi river. The rainfall was heavy from the guif northeastward to Virginia. Scattered showers were reported from Kansas, Missouri and Iowa. The disturbance in the Ohio valley will probably move eastward and produce in this vicinity rain to-night and Saturday, clearing Saturday afternoon. (Special from United Press.)

Chicago, June 4.—When Patten's wheat corner ended, life had no more interest for H. C. Mottached, one of his chief clerks and adviser. To-day he is dead, a suicide. Two months ago the clerk's health began to fall and his employer sent him to a sanitarium. He showed little or no improvement until Patten's wheat corner began to make history. Then Mottached's melancholy began to lift. He watched the market eagerly. Last Saturday Patten closed his corner and retired a victor. Saturday Mottached rejoiced with him. Sunday his old melancholy began to return. Tuesday and Wednesday he wandered about disconsolately, unable to occu-

Winsted, June 4.—While driving along Nepaug river just outside of the city limits of Nepaug, an automobile party from Hartford last evening discovered the body of a young girl floating on the surface of the river. Members of the party towed the Dody ashore and the girl was identified as Lillian Atwood the 15 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Atwood, of Nepaug. It is believed she fell into the river while playing along the bank on her way home. It is all the more refreshing, then, to peruse the announcement of an innkeeper in one of the smaller states who was evidently burning with a desire to tell the exact truth about his establishment:

"Not the largest hotel in the town, not newly furnished throughout, no free bus to train, not the best grub the market affords, but simply clean heds and good food, 25 cents to sleep, 25 cents to eat. Toothpicks and ice water thrown in. Try us. Pay up. And if not satisfied keep mum!"-London An-
